

Carbondale Horse Rescue Unit Plans Educational Help A Horse Day

"Help a horse, lend a hand." That's the ultimate objective, and there'll be considerable more for anyone interested in horses.

Most importantly, it'll be a day of information for those who know nothing, little, or have a definite desire to learn more about horses. Specifically those horses that don't have a home, their owners want to get rid of them, and the ones that are hungry, have been, or are being mistreated in any way.

"The B&C Equine Rescue, Inc., at Carbondale has planned our second annual Horse Rescue Open House in celebration of the ASPCA (American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) Help A Horse Day on Sunday, April 26, from 11 a.m., to 3 o'clock in the afternoon," announced Brenda Grimmert, who with her husband, Cecil, (right) are hosting the program at their horse rescue unit, appropriately named after their first names.

"Spotlights of this program will include educational information on horse rescue, horse rehabilitation and therapy programs as well on how to properly care for a horse's needs," explained Grimmert, who has operated the 501C3 not-for-profit facility since 2007.

"Most importantly, those attending the Help A Horse Day will learn how they can lend a hand to the continuing problem for horses and the industry every day in the future," Grimmert clarified.

"The Kansas Pride and Glory Riders will be doing a flag ceremony to background music honoring our veterans and servicemen, including a rider less horse," according to the host for the educational day advertised and promoted on The BIG 94.5 Country and 580 WIBW.

There will also be demonstration of side saddle horsemanship, along with The Real Women of the Frontier mingling among the visitors. Dale Moulton is coming from Texas to talk about nutrition and Thrive Horse Feed. Terry Yordy, Master Certified Hoof Care professional from Alma, will discuss parts of the horse's hoof, differences in horses' hooves, and provide advice about horse feet and their care.

"To enhance attendance, there is completely free admission, with refreshments and raffles for a number of quality prizes for horse lovers and owners.

"There will be plenty of food and drinks for everyone to enjoy. People can pet the rescue horses, and there will be before and after pictures of the horses we have here, as well as pictures of horses that have been adopted," Grimmert said.

"Our intention is to educate more people about horses and their care. Everybody is welcome to come," Grimmert invited.
